

Educational Development Specialist Position

The Academic Center for Excellence in Teaching (ACET) invites applicants for the position of Educational Development Specialist. ACET provides academic support services to five health professions schools at the University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio: School of Medicine, Dental School, School of Nursing, School of Health Professions, and Graduate School of Biomedical Sciences. ACET provides services in four areas: Faculty Development, Program Evaluation and Organizational Development, the Scholarship of Teaching and Learning, and Exam Scoring and Course Ratings. The ACET website is <http://www.uthscsa.edu/acet/>.

Position Description: This position provides educational evaluation consultation and support services to faculty, administrators, departments, centers, and committees of the various schools in the Health Science Center. Services provided include assessment of instructional effectiveness, faculty and student evaluation, curriculum development, program design and development, grant writing and organizational assessment. The Educational Development Specialist also assists in the design and delivery of faculty development workshops. Other opportunities exist to serve on academic and institutional committees.

Requirements: A Doctorate degree in evaluation, educational psychology, public health or related fields plus evaluation experience is preferred. Consideration will be given to candidates with a Masters degree in any of the above areas who have a minimum of three to five years evaluation experience. Prior experience with focus groups and survey design, development, implementation and analysis is essential. The candidate must also have excellent writing and communication skills and be able to work well as part of a team.

Hours: Monday through Friday. 8:00 a.m. – 5:00 p.m. with occasional extended hours for academic workshops that are offered later in the day.
